

Anthony Caruana

Presenter

With a background covering science, education, vocational training, project management and business analysis across several industries, Anthony has presented to a wide variety of audiences on many different topics.

Anthony's style is relaxed but engaging and he has a particular expertise in being able to express complex ideas to lay audiences.

Rather than taking the usual "death by dot point", Anthony takes a more engaging approach where he focuses on the specific needs of the audience and delivers content in a way that suits their needs rather than the limitations of the presenter.

As well as delivering presentations, Anthony can help you sharpen your skills and hone your delivery so that you can deliver the killer talk to your clients.
